Good day from the Olympic Peninsula, Port Angeles WA - S'Klallam Territory.

11:03:46 From Chautle Haught

Hello from West Virginia!

11:03:58 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

Hi Charles, we will be posting a certificate of attendance for today's session in the chat at the end of the session. If you are in need of certificates from the past two sessions, please email us at fdc@cffutures.org and we are happy to help you out.

11:04:17 From Tessa Richter, CCFF to Everyone:

How did you all celebrate Recovery Month?

11:04:44 From Terri STEVENSON

Glad to meet you all, Terri from Toledo, Ohio

11:04:50 From Dustin Lucero

Organized a festival in Atlantic Iowa

11:04:57 From Dora Reep

We had a Recovery Bingo via Zoom.

11:04:59 From Peggy Sells

Got together with court participants and painted rocks to place outside in our downtown area.

11:05:03 From Deena Davis

We had an amazing recovery rally!!

11:05:07 From Charles cofer

workshops with youth

11:05:08 From Kelli Sutton

offering incentives to anyone who attended the Rally for Recovery in Co!

11:05:09 From Jennifer McNeil

We had a fundraising recovery softball game

11:05:09 From Jennifer Pack

the women I do a recovery group with each week took it upon themselves to bring a cake and shared what they appreciate about each member in the group

11:05:24 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

These are great!! Thanks so much for sharing!

11:05:25 From Ashley Pollock

Our County did a Recovery Month Celebration, there were people in recovery who shared poetry, artwork, and magic tricks. Awards were also given as well for recovery champions

11:05:33 From Alexis Balkey, CCFF

I heard some FTCs held an outdoor celebration for all their previous graduates and their family members.

11:05:49 From Del Saam

We are doing a corn maze this sat

11:05:55 From LaDonna Squiemphen

Good morning from Warm Springs, OR I maintained my own sobriety of 22 years to show our families that it starts from myself as the Juvenile Prosecutor.

11:06:15 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

LaDonna - congratulations!! 22 years! Thank you for sharing and for being here!

11:06:33 From Suzanne Grace checked in with clients to see how I can further support them

11:07:03 From LaDonna Squiemphen

11:07:10 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

Suzanne, I love that. It's all about connection.

11:12:02 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

Share with us! What did you believe earlier in your career that you think differently about now?

11:12:13 From Jenny Zelt

That a parent has to be testing clean to be safe at visits.

11:12:20 From Sarah Berger

That they would choose drugs over their children

11:12:20 From Stephanie Bond kids are better off away from their parents who are in active addiction

11:12:28 From Rachel Vansickle

There is no place for judgement.

11:12:29 From Chautle Haught

three clean screens before a visit is now almost gone

11:12:31 From Theresa James

I see some tribal protection teams refusing to give visits when a parent is using, as opposed to supervising the visits.

11:12:33 From Aurelia Colamarino understanding that relapse is a part of recovery

11:12:37 From Amanda Bevis

I used to think that parents with addiction issues would be detrimental to the children.

11:12:40 From Kelli Sutton

Difference between safety and risk!

11:12:42 From Nancy Jambor

Reinforced both hands-on parenting coaching PLUS contingent feedback that is positive and encouraging for parents to maintain motivation

11:12:43 From Kathleen Sullivan

Parents "choosing" drugs over their children vs. substance use disorder being an illness

11:12:43 From Rosana Gonzalez relapse part of recovery

11:12:43 From Del Saam

I learned that getting sober for your children can be a very powerful recover motivator

11:12:43 From Robert Phillips

They're not just bad parents who don't care about their kids. (They're people who struggle through unfortunate circumstances who are doing their best.)

11:12:44 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

I was trained and truly believed that I shouldn't work harder as a caseworker than my clients.

11:12:48 From Peggy Sells

that only providers are appropriate to supervise interactions

11:13:01 From Cindy Fils

I understand it's not the parent fault it's the drug

11:13:05 From Samantha Stewart

More trauma informed now

11:13:10 From Terri STEVENSON

Realizing that change is possible with the help of a team helping them with rehab

11:13:23 From Latrell Gulotta

A negative drug screen does not mean someone is sober.

11:13:39 From Nancy Jambor

Research published by Mary McKay about working hard is essential for my current understanding of this topic

11:13:43 From Patricia Lipski

Babies and toddlers aren't as affected by early trauma as older children.

11:13:44 From Allison Schild

They there isn't enough parent representation and lived birth parent experience in systems.

11:13:48 From Lauren Hebert

I love these answers so much!

11:13:54 From Meshell Dewberry

Better understanding of the youth by meeting the parents. Pertaining to the youth behaviors & addictions.

11:14:33 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

I so appreciate you all willing to share these. These are inspiring- helps us all remember that change is possible, and training and education is vital! Not to mention that our beliefs truly affect our actions and interactions.

11:15:28 From Latrell Gulotta

Substance Abuse is a true disease for the community and not just for the individual.

11:15:41 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

Latrell, I love that. Thank you.

11:24:39 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

We would love to hear from you all too - what is your "why" for wanting to improve parenting time?

11:25:30 From Theresa James

To give parents and children hope that they will be home together sooner and not later.

11:27:06 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

Thank you, Theresa!

11:27:39 From Cindy Fils

To reunify them sooner and building a stronger bond

11:28:36 From Nancy Jambor

My passion is also to help parents learn how they can be firm, kind, gentle and wise adults in the lives of their dearly loved children - Circle of Security was my first inspirational experience in this arena

11:29:22 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

Please feel free to drop questions for the panelists into the Q&A box!

11:29:41 From Terri STEVENSON

To bring the family together and improve the relationships within the family

11:29:45 From Samantha Stewart

Love those answers :)

11:30:20 From Chautle Haught

I think for me the "why" for everything that I do is that there just had to be a better way than what we were doing for our families in WV.

11:31:48 From Rachel Vansickle

My why is that every parent is human and that we as parents are better with support and non-judgmental space. Especially in our native American communities here in Northern CA.

11:31:56 From Karla Lampman

I am a person who went through the system and now 8 years later I work as an FTC coordinator. Thanks to Laura for going straight to those affected by these systems to learn. I love these treatments and information like this. Also, I was in the same situation that Samantha spoke about. Thank you for recognizing that need.

11:32:12 From Meshell Dewberry

My "why" for wanting to improve parenting time is to help my parents and youth engage more with each other on a daily basis with POSITIVE & OPEN communication. Each having open eyes, ears, and understanding of points of view.

11:32:53 From Gina Riffel

Those 5 Domains?

11:35:24 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

We will have Laura talk revisit the 5 Domains and try to get a link about them as well :)

11:36:01 From Will Blakeley, CCFE to Everyone:

Sandra Azar identified the 5 domains: Social Cognitive Processing, Impulse Control, Parenting Skills, Social Skills and Stress Management

11:36:01 From Allison Schild

My “why” is because I am a parent who has been through this system and experienced a removal. In my current role I help other parents navigate the child welfare system, as a peer.

11:36:12 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

Thank you, Allison, for being here!

11:36:36 From Will Blakeley, CCFE

Thank you for sharing, Karla! Great to have you here!

11:39:13 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

Please keep the questions coming in the Q&A box!

11:39:46 From Samantha Stewart

I agree that we need to be more mindful for the client's visits. I have had clients sit in small room with no toys or anything to do.

11:40:19 From Nancy Jambor

I have begun attending visitations with parents involved in Child Welfare, taking along activities and materials. All that Samantha is saying is very accurate and can make visits so challenging for parents AND children

11:40:27 From Susan Barkan (she/her)

5 Domains and Johnson et al article:

11:40:35 From Sarah Berger

How to reduce instances of systemic shame. Every person on team has past trauma. How to take that into account as one is communicating about family time. How to not add to the shame and/or trauma?

11:41:07 From Nancy Jambor

Coordinating efforts among an interdisciplinary team can be quite challenging in and of itself!

11:41:31 From Susan Barkan (she/her)

Social Cognitive Processing, Impulse Control, Stress Management, Parenting, Social Skills
https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1300/J394v05n01_08

11:43:21 From Tessa Richter, CCFE

Just a reminder as you chat - choose the "Everyone" option if you want your message to go to this whole group!

11:44:19 From Nancy Jambor

I completely agree with Dr Katz' comment - and having a skilled facilitator support successful visits with learning gains for parents and increased sense of connection for children.

11:44:32 From Augie Truhn

Re Samantha about asking kid what they want to do: In cases of true parental alienation, kids should have no choice but to have a visit with the alienated party.

11:48:14 From Sarah Berger

Some wisdom shared in a prior training " the person putting in most of the work is where the power lies".

11:53:31 From Arielle Andrews, CCFF

Please continue to submit any questions you have in the Q & A box!

11:53:39 From Deena Davis

I think parents also need a peer support to talk to before and after seeing their children to normalize some of the feelings that occur during parenting visits. I was raising my daughters through the bathroom door for years. Being with my children sober was terrifying and sometimes terrible. Not because I didn't love and miss them, because of fear. I just thought that made me an even worse mom for having those feelings.

11:54:55 From Arielle Andrews, CCFF

Thank you for sharing, Deena! Peer Support are awesome!

11:55:28 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

Thanks so much for sharing that, Deena. That is very powerful.

11:56:09 From Tessa Richter, CCFF

We will be moving to open Q&A in about 10 minutes - please drop your questions in the Q&A box!

11:56:27 From Terri STEVENSON

Yes, I think that's why we lose some parents. They are self-defeating and really need validation!

By Jennifer A. Reich Copyright Year 2005

12:23:32 From Ashley Pollock

What Dr. Katz is saying right now is so true. I work with a lot of parents who do not think that their alcohol or drug use is impairing their parenting. And at times, it is based partly in what they experienced as a child, adults in their life using.
